TRIBUTE TO MCKINLEY.

Bishop Andrews' Funeral Address at Washington City over McKinley.

"A Man of Incorruptible Personal and Political Integrity Was He."

BELIVED IN AND LIVED FOR GOD.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17.—Bishop Andrews delivered the funeral oration over the body of William McKinley in the Capitol today. He said:

"Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord, who of his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope of the resurrection of Christ from the dead, to an inheritance uncorruptible, undefiled and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for us who are now by the power of God through faith unto salvation, ready to be revealed in the last time.

"The services for the dead are tiny and almost of necessity services of religion and immortal hope. In the presence of the shroud and the coffin and the narrow home questions concerning intellectual quality, concerning public station, concerning great achievements, sink into comparative insignificance, and questions concerning character and man's relation to the Lord and giver of life, even the life eternal, emerge to our view and impress themselves upon us.

"Character abides. We bring nothing into this world; we can carry nothing out. We ourselves depart; with all the accumulations of tendency and habit and quality which the years have given to us. We ask, therefore, even at the grave of the illustrious, not altogether what great achievement they had performed and how they had commended themselves to the memory and affection of respect of the world, but chiefly of what sort they were; what the interior nature of the man was; what were his affluities. Were they with the good, the truth, the noble? What his relation to the infinite Lord of the universe, and to the compassionate Saviour of mankind, what his fitness for that great hereafter to which he has passed.

"And such great questions come to us with moment, even in the hour when we gather around the bier of those whom we profoundly respect and eulogize, and whom we tenderly love. In the years to come, the days and months that lie immediately before us will give full utterance as to the high station and great achievement of the illustrious man whom we mourn today. We shall not touch them today. The nation already has broken out in its grief and poured its tears, and is still pouring them, over the loss of a beloved man. It is well. But we ask this morning of what sort this man was, so that we may perhaps, knowing the moral and spiritual life that is past, be able to shape the far-withdrawing future; I think we must all concede that nature and training and, reverently be said, the inspiration of the Almighty, conspired to form a man admirable in his moral temper and aims.

WAS EXMINENTLY GIFTED. "We none of us, I doubt, I think, that even by nature he was eminently gifted. The kindly, calm and equitable temperament; the kindly and generous heart; the love of justice and right; and the tendency toward faith and loyalty to unseen powers and authorities; these things must have been with him from his childhood, from his infancy, but upon them supervened the training for which he was always tenderly thankful, and of which even this great nation, from sea to sea, continually has taken note.

"It was a humble home in which he was born. Narrow conditions were around him, but faith in God had lifted that lowly roof according to the statement of some great writer, up to the very heavens, and permitted its inmates to behold the things eternal, the immortal and divine; and he came under that training.

power. He accepted of the truth which it taught. He believed in God and in Jesus Christ, through God was revealed. He accepted the divine law of the Scripture: he based his hope on Jesus Christ, the appointed and only redeemer of men; and the church beginning its operation upon his character at an early period of his life, continued even to its close to model him. He waited attentively upon its ministrations.

BEAUTIFUL CHRISTIAN LIFE.

"He gladly partook with his brethren of the symbols of mysterious passion and redeeming love of the Lord Jesus Christ. He was helpful in all of those benevolent and activities; and from the church to the close of his life, he received inspiration that lifted him above much of the trouble and weakness incident to our human nature, and blessings be to God, may we say, in the last and final hour, they enabled him confidently, tenderly to say, 'It is His will, not ours, that will be done.'

"Such influences gave to us William McKinley. And what was he? A man of incorruptible personal and political integrity.

"No stain was upon his escutcheon; no syllable of suspicion that I ever heard was whispered against his character. He walked in perfect and noble self-control. Beyond that this man had somehow wrought in him I suppose upon the foundations of a very happily constructed nature—a great and generous love for his fellowmen. He believed in men. He had himself been brought up among the common people. He knew their labors, struggles, necessities. He loved them; but I think beyond that to the church and its teaching concerning the fatherhood of God and universal brotherhood of man that he was indebted for that habit of kindness, for that generosity of spirit, that was wrought into his very substance and became him so that though he was of all men most courteous, no one ever supposed, but that courtesy was from the heart. It was spontaneous, unaffected, kindly, attractive, in a most eminent degree.

"When he was in the narrower circle of those to whom he was personally attached, I think he was also in the greatness of his comprehensive love toward the race of which he was part. If any man had been lifted up to take into his purview and desire to help all classes and conditions of men, all the nationalities beside his own, it was this man.

"Shall I speak a word next of that which I will hardly advert to? The tenderness of that domestic love which has so often been commented upon? I pass it with only that word. I take it that no words can set forth fully the unflinching kindness and carefulness and unending love which belonged to this great man.

"And he was a man who believed in right, who had a profound conviction that the courses of this world must be changed in accordance with everlasting righteousness, or this world's highest point of good will never be reached; that no nation can expect such life except as it conforms to the eternal laws of the infinite Lord and pass itself in individual and collective activity in accordance with that divine will. It was deeply ingrained in him that righteousness was the perfection of man and of any people. Simplicity belonged to him. I need not dwell upon it, and I close the statement of these qualities by saying that underlying all and over-reaching all and penetrating all there was a profound loyalty to guard the great King of the universe, the author of all good, the eternal hope of all that trust in him.

"And, now, may I say further that it seemed to me that to whatever we may attribute all the illustriousness of this man, all the greatness of his achievements, whatever of that we may attribute to his intellectual character and quality, whatever of it we may attribute to the patient and thorough study which he gave to the various questions thrust upon him for attention, for all his successes as a politician, as a statesman, as a man of the great country, those successes were largely due to the moral qualities of which I have spoken. They drew to him the hearts of men everywhere, and particularly of those who best knew him. They called to his side helpers in every exigency of his career, so that when his future at one time was likely to have been imperiled and utterly ruined by his financial conditions, they who had resources, for the sake of helping a man who had in him such qualities, came to his side and put him on the high road of additional and larger successes. His high qualities drew to him the good will of his associates in political life in an eminent degree. They believed in him, felt his kindness, confided in his honesty and in his honor. His qualities even associated with him in kindly relations those who were his political opponents. They made it possible for him to enter that land with which he was one of the soldiers of the Union; had been, in some sort, at war, and to draw closer the ties that to bind all the parts in one firm and indissoluble union.

"If there is a personal immortality before him let us also rejoice that there is an immortality and memory in the hearts of a large and ever-growing people, who through the ages to come, the generations that are yet to be, will look back upon the life, upon its ability and purity and service to humanity and thank God for it. The years draw on when his name shall be counted among the illustrious of the earth. William of Orange is not dead. Cromwell is not dead. Washington lives in the hearts and lives of his countrymen. Lincoln, with his infinite sorrow, lives to teach us and lead us on. And McKinley shall summon all statesmen and all his countrymen to purer living, nobler aims, sweeter and immortal blessings.

State Free From Smallpox.

For the first time in four years Kentucky is rid of smallpox. Dr. J. N. McCormack, Secretary of the State Board of Health, who was at the Galt House last night said that there was only one case in the entire State and that there was no danger of its spreading. He said the State had not been so free of the disease in four years, and he was of the opinion that another outbreak was unlikely, so thoroughly had the State been vaccinated. At one time last winter the smallpox situation in certain sections of the State was alarming, and it was feared that whole cities and counties would have to be quarantined to prevent a spread. It became necessary to quarantine one county for a short time, but the various County Boards of Health ordered a thorough vaccination and the disease was eradicated.—Courier Journal.

THE TRUST.

I heard the poor man thus complain Of poverty and want; I saw his aged and weary wife, His children pale and gaunt; He'd heard the tariff question And free coinage discussed, But what endures the poor man most Is working for the trust.

I heard the widow's plaintive sigh, Of hunger and distress While toiling for her daily bread And by the rich oppressed. She could maintain her children once, But now 'tis true she must Give a part of her hard earnings To help maintain the trust.

I met the feeble man of age, Bowed beneath the weight of years, Said he: "I'm growing tired of life, It's poverty and cares. I'm trying hope that I may reach The mansions of the just Where the oppressor ne'er can come To rob me with the trust."

Upon the vile extortioner There will remain a curse. Bowed beneath the weight of years, Said he: "I'm growing tired of life, It's poverty and cares. I'm trying hope that I may reach The mansions of the just Where the oppressor ne'er can come To rob me with the trust."

They will proceed at once to form A giant sulphur trust.

Trial of Colgoz.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Crowds flocked to the County Court today before Judge Henry assumed the bench, expecting that Leon F. Colgoz would be arraigned to plead to the indictment charging murder in the first degree in shooting President McKinley. They waited in vain, as nothing was done during the morning session of court.

District Attorney Penney to pay $2500 to Leon Lewis and Robert C. Tittus, former Supreme Court Justices, formal notices of the assignments of Judge Emery yesterday, as counsel to defend the murderer. The notice was served personally upon ex-Judge Lewis at his office, but at Judge Tittus' office it was stated that he was in Milwaukee.

Albert Moot, President of the Erie Bar Association, called upon Judge Lewis today, and urged him to accept the assignment as counsel to defend Colgoz. Mr. Moot also sent to Judge Tittus a lengthy telegram urging him to accept. At noon to-day Judge Lewis said:

"I will determine at 2 o'clock this afternoon whether or not to accept the assignment. I will have a meeting with the prisoner in the jail at that hour, and will then determine my course in the matter. The decision of Judge Tittus will not necessarily govern me in reaching a determination."

Justice Lewis, for the prisoner, has entered a plea of not guilty, reserving the right to withdraw that plea. Colgoz again refused to plead. The trial of the case has been set for Monday next.

From every section of the State Democratic prospects in the local contests are flattering.

All the candidates for United States Senate spoke in the first district last Monday. It begins to look like it's the field against McCreary.

The little German Reform Church, Washington, the one in which President Roosevelt will worship, only seats one hundred and fifty persons.

In response to a proclamation issued by President Roosevelt memorial services were held in nearly every town and city in the nation last Thursday.

Organized labor stands but little showing against combined capital. The great steel strike has been decided in favor of the latter and the mills have again started.

President McKinley carried $150,000 insurance on his life, and evidently calculated that he would live many years, as he had changed a short time ago, a $30,000 policy, ordinarily life, to an endowment.

It is but a few weeks until the voters of the county will select officers for the next four years, and so far as we know everything is quiet along the potomac. The candidates are making a quiet hunt.

Mr. Roosevelt says he will be the President of the whole people of the United States, and will favor no particular section over another. The statement is like Melvin White's word hauling, if he does it's all right.

There will be no change in the Cabinet, the President having invited all to remain and gaining the consent of each member. It may be that some time later that Secretary Hay will tender his resignation.

In the last twenty years over 8,000 lynchings have taken place in the United States. Kentucky was not as industrious as Texas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Louisiana, Georgia, Arkansas and Alabama, being given the eighth place.

IN MEMORIAM.

Citizens of Columbia Meet and Give Expressions of Their Sorrow on Account of the Death of President McKinley.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY.

At a mass meeting of citizens of Adair county, held at the courthouse, in Columbia on Thursday, the 19th inst., at 2:30 o'clock—Judge W. W. Jones was called to Chair and N. M. Tutt was elected Secretary.

After music and the reading of a chapter from the Bible by Rev. T. F. Walton, Rev. W. P. Oordon, of the Methodist church, led in prayer.

A committee was then appointed to prepare and present resolutions expressive of the sense of the meeting. H. C. Baker, James Garretts, Jesse L. Murrell, F. R. Winfrey and Rollin Hart, were appointed on the committee, and reported the following:

Resolved, Let That we share in the universal sorrow which is felt at the death of President William McKinley. No man in public or private life in our country has been more highly esteemed and beloved by all the people. For many years in official position, and in times of intense political excitement, his great name for purity of life, for integrity of purpose, for devotion to country was ever above and beyond the breath of suspicion. His untimely death by the assassin's bullet comes to his country not only as a National, but as personal loss. As soldier, statesman, husband, son and as a pure minded, great hearted christian gentleman, he represented and personified the highest type of our best American citizenship.

We denounce the fiendish act of the assassin, and we denounce all organizations in which doctrines are taught which lead to such crimes—Legislation should be framed, if possible, to prevent their recurrence. It is a reproach to our civilization that within the past fifty years, three of our Presidents have been shot down in cold blood merely because they represented the majesty of law.

Just as certain as there is a God there is going to be a general hanging in this country and the entertainment and not come too soon. Twenty anarchists are now standing guard over a publication at Spring Valley, Ill., that expressed joy over the assassination of President McKinley. In New York the same expression is being made nightly. In fact, the anarchists in that city meet in saloons by the hundreds and dance the "cau can" so elated are they over the death of the ruler of our country.

Eld. C. C. Oline, of the Christian church, who is well-known in Columbia, has evidently torn his trousers. In a sermon at Nashville, last Sunday, he stated that the assassination of the President was the will of God. He took the position that God was jealous for the poor, and that McKinley was a crusher. Men who utter such sentiments are not friends to this government, and should be classed and dealt with as anarchists.

There is no such thing as an independent newspaper. If one is attempted to be published and its editor is a Republican it will invariably lean to that side the writer belongs and if the editor is a Democrat the same statement applies. What is the result? Neither party has any respect upon the publication, and it is regarded by the public generally to be the smallest potato in the smallest patch upon the thinnest ground in Ireland.

In the assassination, death and burial of the late President, Wm. McKinley, the American people's sympathy was so fully expressed as to demonstrate that we are all one in love of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that in times of trouble we all mourn and in time of peril we stand as a unit. No sectionalism, no party creed withold any true American from a free and vigorous denunciation of murder.

If President Roosevelt should die, the Secretary of State would become President. After that the order of succession would be as follows: Secretary of Treasury, Secretary of War, Attorney General, Post Master General, Secretary of Navy, Secretary of Interior, Secretary of Agriculture is not eligible, as no such office was in existence when the law of succession was enacted.

The last and rites over the remains of President McKinley were witnessed by over one hundred thousand people. The body was placed in a receiving vault at the deceased old home, Canton, Ohio, last Thursday at sun-set, and it is being strictly guarded by soldiers. Mrs. McKinley is prostrated and is very nervous and weak, but her physicians think she will survive the shock.

The trial of Czolgosz for murdering the late President McKinley, was set for last Monday. It is hoped that it will be speedily brought to an end. It goes without saying what the verdict will be.

Mrs. McKinley is improving and drives out every day or two. Sunday she was driven to the cemetery and viewed the latest floral tribute send over by the Czar of Russia.

PELLYTON.

Several from this place attended court at Columbia Monday week. Mr. J. A. Fesse returned home Saturday after a week's visit here. Wheat threshing is the order of the day.

Mrs. Annie B. Ellis, Jas. L. Pelley and Welby Ellis have all recovered from typhoid fever. J. W. Beard left this week for Louisville to spend two or three weeks.

On the morning of August 28, 1901, the death Angel visited the home of J. W. Ellis, and claimed as his victim his son, J. P. Ellis, formerly known as Toke, while in the prime of life and vigor of his days. Seemingly he had such a bright future before him, but this sun has gone down while yet it is day.

Toke was taken from us so suddenly our stricken hearts can hardly realize that he is numbered with the blessed in Paradise. He was a bright, intelligent boy and seemed to have a pleasant smile and kind word for every one he met, and though to-day the summer sun shines warm on that lonely grave, Toke, who rests there is not forgotten, nor will he be let. If it were possible to comfort the family in their bereavement, there is none who would not, but sympathetic words of friends can only be a momentary relief in their time of trouble.

When the trials of life are ended, and we are one by one called upon to cross the dark river of death, may we be welcomed by those who are nearest and dearest to us on earth.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After thirty Years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and I thought I was past being cured," says J. S. Holloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by M. Craven.

Mrs. Ann Turk Dead.

Ripe in years, this estimable old lady, well-known in Adair county and specially to the citizens of Columbia, finished her life work last Friday. A few weeks ago she visited a daughter in Marion county and one in Louisville, and a granddaughter in Washington county, returning to Adair much broken in health. For several years she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. P. P. Dohney, who resides at Milltown, occasionally visiting her daughter, Mrs. Mary T. Harvey, of this place. In a few days she returned home, she rapidly grew weaker until the end came.

The deceased was born and reared in Adair county and was a daughter of Mrs. Mary T. Harvey, who will be remembered by our older citizens. When quite young she was married to Mr. Caleb Turk, eight children being the fruits of their union. The husband died many years ago. The children are all living but three. Mrs. Harvey being the eldest, and Mrs. Turk the youngest.

Mrs. Turk was 79 years old, and if we remember correctly was a member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church and had been a member since early in life. She was buried near Milltown Saturday afternoon, many relatives and friends being present. We are told that she had been practicing in other parts of the United States for more than twenty years. I judge most every one has heard of its wonderful success with cases that heretofore have been incurable by other systems of healing. Osteopathy treats most all forms of chronic cases known to be curable, and some that were thought to be incurable before the days of Osteopathy. It has attained a most enviable reputation in the treatment of fevers, most especially typhoid. Osteopathy bears no relation whatever to Christian Science, Magnetic healing or faith cure, but is scientific, being based upon thorough knowledge of the principles of anatomy and physiology.

Those who are suffering with diseases from which they can get no relief by the use of drugs, would do well to investigate the possibilities of Osteopathy in the cure of disease. Consultation and examination can be had free by calling upon.

Belgian Hare Dinner.

Last Sunday Mrs. Rollin Hurt gave the first Belgian hare dinner ever given in this community. The following guests being present: N. M. Tutt, R. H. Price, Sam Lewis, J. R. Hindman and Miss Mary Price. Mrs. Anna Strange, mother of Mrs. Hurt, assisted in the preparation of the meal, and in culinary affairs she has no superior. The foregoing gentlemen were selected by Mrs. Hurt's numerous friends, they being hunters and very fond of all kinds of game. Gov. Hindman and Mr. Hurt are engaged in raising this species of rabbit, and for some time they had a ravishing desire to test the quality of their meat, and so they were more vigorously prosecuted. After dinner the guests visited Mrs. Hurt's poultry yard, finding almost every variety of fowl from the fanciful pigeon to a peafowl. Those who were honored by Mrs. Hurt's desire to return their sincere thanks, assuring her that the afternoon was most enjoyable, and the unique dinner very much enjoyed.

Young men are continuously leaving the homes of their nativity for wider fields in which to accumulate wealth. Some make successful removals while others meet with failure "aging and mourning." Perhaps all of the young men who have left Columbia J. P. W. C. Crank and Henry Read have been the most successful. W. C. Read resides in St. Paul, Minn. and is in the real estate business. He left here seventeen years ago, without means, and at this time he is worth over $200,000. He is accumulating the amount of property that has been placed in his hands for rental. In talking to a News man about his business he stated that he had more tenants than there were people in Columbia. We asked if he had not accumulated a considerable estate, he said: "I take it that I have made an enormous amount of money that I am entitled to for several years my income has been over one hundred and fifty thousand dollars per month." J. P. Crank and Henry reside in St. Paul, Ark. Jim is a successful lawyer and has accumulated a large estate; Frank is also wealthy and Henry is said to be in the best of any of the boys. Their success is due to sobriety and strict business habits. All four of the boys are happily married and are raising interesting families.

Miss Cora Breeding, a highly respected young lady, about eighteen years old, died in the Fayette neighborhood last Thursday night. She was a daughter of Mr. M. Breeding, and was a general favorite in the community where she lived.

The M. & F. High School opened last Monday, and in a few weeks there will be a large number of pupils in attendance.

A great many attended the spelling bee at Rocky Hill School House last Friday night. It was a contest between Pigeon and Rocky Hill, and it was decided in favor of the latter.

If you intend sending your children to the M. & F. High School enter them at once in order that they may be classed and get the full benefit of the term.

The Merkle Mill, at Campbellville, destroyed by fire last week, was insured to the amount of $5,000. The property was saved at a cost of eight thousand. We understand that Mr. Merkle will not rebuild.

Kemp & Young sell the best Fertilizers on the market. Come and get what you need. They will make you grow crops on all grades. They guarantee the Horse Shoe Brand to be the best.

The case against Lafayette Cundiff, charged with robbing J. B. Watson's store, on Green river, was continued until the next term of court. The case was tried four months ago, but the jury agreed to disagree.

Mr. Robt. Gilmer, a former citizen of Adair county, writes distressingly from Missouri to friends here. He states that he had in sixty acres of corn and that he would not be able to gather as much as one wagon load.

Don't send away from home for a sewing machine, but let us furnish you a better machine for less money. We have them from $12.50 to $27.50—several standard makes.

Russell & Murrell.

Louisville Conference is in session at Bowling Green. The citizens of Columbia and many families living in the vicinity of town have agreed to entertain, and a strong effort will be made to have Conference meet here next year.

All the undergrowth and rubbish have been removed from the city cemetery, and it is now in a clean condition. The work was supervised by Mr. J. N. Page, who takes a deep interest in keeping the city of the dead free from weeds, etc.

It is now time for the darlings to call rest on cake walking. They have given two recently, and the prospect has been very well paid for his trouble but the interest is about dead. Change the money and give us "Peas in the Wilderness."

It is hoped that farmers of Adair county have not cut their tobacco too green. Green tobacco is as "unsuitable as frost bitten." The crop throughout the county is large and it has been properly cultivated and cut at the right time it will bring in a large sum of revenue.

Bad luck will eventually overtake the man who hunts out of season and his name is most likely to be mentioned in the grand jury room. Wait until the season opens before you go winging for birds. It is said there are plenty of them in the fields and the sport will be fine after the 15th of November.

Mr. Dock Bell, who is employed at the Columbia Roller Mill, met with a very serious accident last Friday morning. He was chopping a log, and making a mistake, struck his leg below the knee, cutting a very severe gash. It will be several weeks before he will be able to resume work.

The dwelling house and contents owned by Mr. Warren Salts, located on the Stanford road, for miles from Columbia, was consumed by fire last Sunday morning at 3 o'clock. The smoke-house and other out buildings were burned. The property was insured for $300 in the company represented by Mr. D. J. Schoelling.

Dick Lee Hardin, the colored boy who came very near killing Monty Montgomery, a young white man, with a rock, in this place, several months ago, was given a trial last week. The jury was out but a short time, fixing his punishment at one year in the penitentiary. Dick Lee is in his teens and for several years has been an "all round" bad boy.

There is an impression that Miss Sallie Montgomery occupies all her time at Gradyville. That is a mistake. She teaches only two days in the week at that place, the other four she spends with her pupils here. She can take several more scholars if there are those who desire to be instructed in music. She is an excellent teacher and takes great pride in advancing pupils.

Dick Bryant, who shot and killed George Curry some months ago, was given a trial last week and acquitted. His mother was also implicated in the indictment and the charge against her was dismissed. Dick Bryant is only a little boy, eleven years of age, and at the time he fired the shot Curry was chasing his mother. The verdict of the jury was not a surprise to those who heard the testimony.

Last Thursday a young gentleman in town sent a lady friend a very fine watermelon. It was sent from a store and the boy who delivered it said upon arriving at the house, "here is a melon Mr. — sent," giving the merchant's name. The merchant is familiar at the dwelling, and the kids about the house concluded that he was the donor, and they thereupon cut it open and after consuming the best part of it invited the young lady from the parlor to assist in the wind up.

A beautiful story is credited to Sam Jones which describes a decision in Heaven as to what is the most joyful thing on earth: "An Angel was sent down from Heaven one day to bring back the most beautiful thing on earth. He hunted long and carefully, saw a bed of full blown American Beauty roses, lovely beyond compare, and he gathered an armful and started to return to his home above. As he soared into the air he saw a baby's smile, and filled with rapturous admiration at the sight, returned to take it, too. By its side he discovered a mother's love, and with all these in his arms, he mounted to the place beyond the skies. Judge, judge the peary lady the spirit paused for a moment and lo! the roses were withered and dead, and the baby's smile had vanished, but, strong and faithful and serenely beautiful as ever, mother's love remained, and he cast the other aside and took this and laid it at the feet of the Master as the most lovely and lasting thing on earth."

There is not a more healthy location in the State than Columbia, and persons who contemplate to enter their children in school should send them to this place. The building is on an elevated position overlooking the town, and the walks to and from the college hall are all that students could desire. Pure water has recently been found at the depth of eighty feet near the center of the building, and the edifice has just received a fresh coat of paint, inside and out, giving it a very inviting appearance. Two splendid teachers are in attendance, and no pupil will be neglected. Start your children at once.

Rev. Jesse L. Murrell and wife, Rev. W. P. Gordon and Hon. J. R. Hindman are attending Conference at Bowling Green. Rev. Murrell has been the Presiding Elder of this district for the past four years, and under the rules governing Conference he can not be returned here in that capacity. He will doubtless be given work elsewhere. He is a minister very much liked over the district, and his friends hope that he will be given a good location. In the four years just past he has been preaching almost constantly and has received a great many persons into the church. Rev. Gordon will probably be returned to Columbia.

The news from the Wayne county oil fields is very encouraging. Mr. P. Board is here from Monticello and reports that it is confidently believed that a number of so wells will be sunk in Wayne county in the near future. Messrs. M. Cravens and W. F. Jeffries of this place, left for the territory of this place, where they are members of the Columbia Oil Company, and their mission is to have operators commence boring for said company as quickly as possible. The machinery for the purpose is all on the ground.

The Monticello paper which will be published by Mr. Sam F. White and Mr. S. N. Hancock will appear next week. The reason for the delay is, the young men have removed their outfit to another being, and for four further reason it takes time to straighten out an office and bring to the surface the first issue of a publication. We understand that Messrs. White and Hancock have met with a great deal of encouragement and this office trusts that their fondest hopes may be realized.

There is said to be more quail in Adair county than for a number of years in the past. In the neighborhood of Monticello they are reported especially plentiful and much fine sport is promised after the 15th of November. Luther Williams, who lives at Monticello, and who is a fine shot and a law abiding citizen, should keep a lookout and prevent the birds from being disturbed until the season opens.

Mr. J. W. Gardner, district Superintendent of the Children's Orphan Society, Louisville, was in Columbia several days of last week. Sunday night of this week he made a talk at the Christian church, giving details as to the management of the home and the number of poor children of the State who have been rescued from poverty and placed with best families of the Commonwealth. Our people manifested their interest in the work by adding words of approval and subscription to help keep up the institution.

The Columbia State Company continues to ship and for several weeks the gales between Columbia and Campbellville has been lined with wagons loaded with staves. Mr. J. R. Gowdy has been purchasing several hundred thousand. The market is not particularly brisk, still there is a good demand for this class of boards.

How Garfield and Lincoln Fell.

President Garfield was shot by Chas. J. Guiteau in the depot of the Baltimore and Potomac railway in Washington, D. C., on July 2, 1881, and died from the effects of the bullet on September 19th following.

At the time of the tragic accident President Garfield was about to take the train for Long Branch, where his wife was still recovering from an illness of several weeks. Mr. Blaine, then Secretary of State, was with him, and together they were discussing political matters, when suddenly two pistol shots rang out upon the air and President Garfield fell to the floor. The man who fired the shots gave his name as Charles J. Guiteau, and on the trial of the murderer several weeks later it was ascertained that the crime was the outgrowth of disappointment on the part of Guiteau, who, it seems, without any qualifications whatever for the office, wanted to be consul general at Paris. Although there was no doubt as to the murderer's sanity, he was convicted and executed.

President Lincoln lingered for eighty days in great physical pain and suffering. All sections of the country were united in profound grief over his tragic death.

President Lincoln was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth in Ford's theatre, Washington, D. C. April 14, 1865. Mr. Lincoln was seated in the president's box at Ford's theatre when the tragedy occurred. Several parties were implicated in the plot, but it fell to Booth's lot to commit the deed. Entering the president's box from the rear, while the distinguished occupant was intently watching the play, he crept up to his side, and, aiming deliberately at his head, fired. By reason of his great muscular strength he succeeded in wrenching himself away from those who would him with violent hands, and the stockholders are hale. They also glad to find that Mr. J. H. Smith, our enterprising merchant and stockman, carried away his part of the premiums.

Stockmen visit our little village often, and occasionally they carry away some good animals. Mr. J. H. Smith sold six two-year-old mules the other day for $525; A. E. Cooper sold one horse for $65.

Mr. R. J. Wade happened to a very serious accident the other day. He started to the Russell Springs, his horse became frightened and ran, resulting in Mr. Wade being thrown and badly hurt, one of his arms being dislocated and his face was somewhat bruised.

A certain young man near here is causing people to suspicion something is liable to happen in the near future. For some time he has been making semi-monthly visits to Pulaski county, but of late he has changed the order of things. He now goes weekly, and we judge from indications it will be but a short time when his visits will be semi-weekly. We are unable to see what all this means, unless he has concluded that he has passed the trial of bachelorhood long enough. He has lately purchased a farm, and he also informs us that he bought a new buggy the other day. These are indications of a conjugal knot being drawn before a great while.

Messrs. G. B. Smith, M. L. Shepherd, Wm. Tarter and W. S. Ruxroast attended the Democratic convention at Jamestown. A strong ticket was named, and the indications are good for a victory in November. Democrats, let's be busy until after the election.

The health of this community is very good. W. A. Wilson has been very sick with flux, but is better. J. H. Smith & Co., sold $78 worth of goods on the 9th. Born, to a wife of Thomas Thornton, a son, on the 9th.

Rev. G. Wilson was here the 18th on business. D. C. Hopper's school is progressing nicely at this place. Bryan Stone passed this place, looking after votes the 18th. T. J. Wade was married the 8th to a Miss Barker.

H. McLeath was here the 18th. If you want to invest some money in the Columbia Oil Co., call on or write Wm. F. Jeffries or any member of the company in this town.

The railroads in the United States contributed $500,000 to the public revenues last year.

JOPPA.

We are having lots of rain.

Fodder piling is the order of the day.

Mr. T. P. Jeffries, who has been in feeble health for some time, is a little better.

Z. T. Young, who has been sick for some time, is not so well.

Q. Montgomery and Wm. Powell have formed a partnership and are sinking a number of wells in this community.

Dr. S. P. Miller and F. W. Miller, Democratic and Republican candidates for sheriff, were mingling with the voters here last week.

Prof. R. E. Montgomery, who is teaching school on Barnett's creek, is at home on the sick list.

E. B. White, the hustling fruit tree man, is doing a fine business to the disappointment of country boys.

Rev. Rife and Cave closed a very successful meeting at Zion with six additions to the church.

Misses Beresbaha and Maud Holaday and Sallie Jones are attending school at Glasgow.

This country is aroused over the assassination of our President and many of the best citizens, differing with McKinley politically, say not only the villain who fired the fatal shot, but all who were concerned in it, should be burned at the stake, and many think that such a punishment would really be to good for them.

FONTHILL.

The Fair being over, we are again settled down to business.

The people of Fonthill are glad to say the Russell Springs Fair was a success, and the stockholders are hale. They also glad to find that Mr. J. H. Smith, our enterprising merchant and stockman, carried away his part of the premiums.

Curse of Chronic Diarrhoea After thirty years of Suffering.

"I suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and I thought I was past being cured," says J. S. Hallaway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident was permitted to find a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be in reach of all who suffer as I have." For sale by M. Craven.

This remedy effects malaria, kills disease germs and purifies the blood; aids digestion, regulates the liver, kidneys and bowels, cures constipation, dyspepsia, nervous diseases, kidney troubles, female complaints, gives perfect health. Queer Tobacco Crop Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 15.—Tom Jones, of Thurston, has a crop of tobacco that has puzzled him and his neighbors. He planted a field of Burley tobacco, and now it is nearly half grown. On each stalk there is a green stripe running from the ground up on two sides of the plant. Every leaf that comes out in the green stripes is Pryor of the most pronounced type, while that on the other portions of the stalk is Burley, and has all the characteristics of that variety of tobacco in the most pronounced manner. Where the leaves start from the stalk partly in the white and partly in the green stripes they are half of one kind of tobacco and half of the other. Almost the whole of a considerable field is mixed up in this way, and Mr. Jones does not know how he will class it for market.

For sale by M. Craven.

Deep Sorrow. Washington, D. C., Sept. 17.—The many expressions of deep sorrow that have come from the South over the death of President McKinley are especially pleasing to the thousands who witnessed this morning the funeral cortege that slowly moved upon Pennsylvania avenue to the Capitol.

It is a matter of no minor comment that the attitude of the South has been one of the most beautiful incidents in this period of national gloom. The Confederate veterans of the District of Columbia and of Alexandria, Va., marched in the funeral procession clad in their uniforms of gray.

Many organizations in the South sent inquiries as to whether they could come, but the funeral arrangements were so unsettled that they could not be notified in time to be here.

Three negroes were taken from the jail at Wickliffe, Ballard county, Wednesday night, and hanged to a tree in the courthouse yard. They were accused of the murder and robbery of an inoffensive old negro Saturday night.

He owes his life to the Fore thought of a Companion.

While on a camping trip to Webster county, S. I. Stump, Normantown, W. Va., had a severe attack of bloody flux. He says, "I finally believe that I owe my life to the forethought of one of the company who had taken along a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy." Moral.—Prepare a bottle of this remedy before leaving home. It cannot be obtained when on a hunting, fishing or prospecting trip. Neither can it be obtained while on board cars or steamship, and at such times and places it is most likely to be needed. The safe way is to have it leave home on a journey without it. For sale by M. Craven.

Gov. Beckham has offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension of Ballard Hays, a fugitive from justice, wanted in Callaway county, and his delivery to the jailer of that county which who is a negro, killed his brother at Murray early in 1897 and fled the State.

A night of Terror. "Awful anxiety was felt for the wife of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she was dead from Pneumonia before morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption. After taking, she slept all night. This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at E. B. Paul's drug store.

Nathan Potts, his sister, Mrs. Frank Nicum, her husband, and their eight-month-old daughter, were killed by a Lake Erie and Western passenger train at a crossing six and one-half miles north of Peru, Ind. The four were in a spring wagon returning from a funeral.

A Shocking Calamity. "Lately befell a railroad laborer," writes Dr. A. Kellef, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. Sold by T. E. Paul.

The government crop reports show that the condition of cotton in the majority of the cotton-growing States is below the ten-year average this season, the decline being about 5.5 points. It is eighteen points lower in Texas.

A Warning. Pain or soreness in the back must never be slighted. Kidney diseases creep on us with only that warning. Delay is folly when by the timely use of Morley's Liver and Kidney Cordial, the great System Renovator, all danger can be avoided. This remedy is a positive cure for Kidney and Urinary troubles. Ask your druggist.
